World's most dangerous wine. A BS Suggestion.

Karim and Sandro Saade have not been able to visit their vineyard for several years, but they still continue to make wine each vintage by phone with their Syrian winemaking team. The Saade's vineyard is in north west Syria, on the slopes of the coastal mountain range. It is currently Syria's only surviving commercial winery since the war broke out in March 2011. "What started as a venture has turned into a challenge. An act of perseverance", say the Saades. Don't like risk but do like wine? Then just come dine with us and have a bottle, it's safer that way.
